Along about now the city of London should be getting ready for the annual Lord Mayor's Parade which accompanies the installation of the new Lord Mayor. At the ceremonies two years ago, newly installed Sir Edmund Stockdale noticed among the happy throng, a little girl in floods of tears. His Worship stopped in mid-procession and went over to discover the cause of this untimely weeping. Upon hearing the child had lost her "mum," Sir Edmund gallantly offered to help find her. "What's she like?" he asked.

"American soldiers and gin," was the quick reply an of today may have lost a little of the spunk she used to have.

Sir Philip Livingston recalled on Thursday night the perils of the Oxford Cambridge boat race in the Pankhurst era. He remembers being in mortal danger, when he rowed for Cambridge, from the militant ladies who were in a habit of dropping boulders from Barnes Bridge Into the shells as they passed below.

A barber on Estevan Avenue was administering to the needs of a six-year-old boy when a man emerged from the Hugh Sir Philip boy when a man emerged from the Hugh Ross handloom weaver shop next door, attired in a kilt. The following dialogue ensued between the barber and the boy:

Boy: "Is that a man or a woman? Barber: "It's a man. He is a Scot, you see, and Scots often wear skirts called kilts."

Boy: "Doesn't he wear pants."

Barber: "Well, perhaps in the wintertime when it's Boy (reflectively): "Don't the flies bother him in the Historian Reg Roy has an interesting story of how he handled a special aspect of research for his book, Ready for the Fray.

"Now." said historian Roy, "there are certain things a man says to his wife in a wartime letter that cannot be published. How to get around this problem?"

They solved it in a unique way. Mrs. Ringham read the letters through, marked the straight military material in dark pencil, and then read them into a tape-recorder for historian Roy.

A Job Well Done

MAYOR PERCY SCURRAH HAS IVI decided to step down. He has reached this decision with his customary regard for the city.

"I think the time has come, perhaps, that a new man, with different ideas, would be a good thing for Victoria," he says.

The people of this community who have appreciated the leadership he brought to civic affairs, will respect the spirit in which he has announced his pending retirement. This is not the decision of a man driven by an appetite for ment. This is not the decision of a man driven by an appetite for power and self-centred interest in holding office. He withdraws grace-fully after three exacting terms in which he has made significant contributions to this capital.

The public should be aware of the material benefits Victoria has received during the Scurrah regime.
The Point Ellice Bridge as one public business.

Percy Scurrah worked quietly, conscientiously and successfully to restore co-operation, establish trust and give to the city a sense of unity it had lost temporarily. His prac-tical, business-like administration and his unobtrusive diplomacy lifted council from a state of ridicule into which it had fallen. He vetoed camera council work and restored public civic business to the public.

The mayor of Victoria again became a figure of importance in mu-nicipal affairs not only on the lower nicipal arrairs not only on the Arctical Island, but throughout British Columbia and Canada—a fact attested by his presidency of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipal Research (Canadian Federation of Mayors and Mayors and Mayors and Municipal Research (Canadian Federation of Mayors and Mayors and Municipal Research (Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipal Research (Canadian Federation of Mayors and Mayors and Municipal Research (Canadian Federation of Mayors and Mayo UNITED STATES educational circles

His successor cannot help but benefit from the cordiality Percy Scurrah has re-established in the council and among those agencies with which the city deals.

The report suggests that the pendulum swung too far. While Russian pupils in the early grades were plodding ahead and getting into Tolstoy, their American counterparts were still being babled with books contrived to withhold words from them.

The reading books were carefully composed to give a minimum of new words and provide endless repetition. This was to accustom the pupil to recognize a word without bothering with the letters that composed it. The shape of the word formed a picture and this was what the child read. Only later was he introduced to the component letters.

One pre-primer had only fifteen different words; a second added 26 words, while another primer gave an additional 80 words. With a reader contributing 114 words, the child finished the year with 235 new words which had been fused into 7,257 words of text.

While there were arguments that this was a logical pace for progress, the evidence of other systems presented a serious challenge to the method.

Closing Gap

By B. A. TOBIN If Necessary

This is, as I understand, the position This is, as I uncerstand, the position taken by the President. He will resume testing in the open air is and as it is necessary to the maintenance of our "relative position."

He will not resume testing in order

Lippmann whether, when, how, and how often it needs to conduct open air tests in order to protect its vital interests and its essential responsibilities. These decisions have to be made here in Washington. They cannot be made by the United Nations in New York because the United Nations cannot meet our paramount responsibility should we become unable to meet it.

Our paramount responsibility is to maintain the nuclear force needed to preserve without question the nuclear balance of power. If we do that, co-existence will continue to be practised and a world war will continue to be highly improbable.

We can, threfore, never take the chance of losing the race of armaments, and the question of testing must be decided by that criterion.

Lippmann

Presidential

Decision

By WALTER LIPPMAN

THE Soviet nuclear explosions, which have been in the open air, have d the question of United States resumption of testing in the open air. The President's statement of Nov. 2 deals with this question and, so it seems to me, defines it accurately. Since the Soviet Union has broken off the nego-tiations for a treaty, the United States must decide for itself whether, when, how, borne out in the present state of American reading ability which United States universities are recognizing as a major problem among their students — the harvest of the restricted system.

One of the results of the "word picture" method, whereby the child accepts the word as a shape rather than a succession of letters, is that similar-looking words become sadly confused. Thus "squirrel" and "special", "majority" and "majesty" and other matching items cause trouble for the young reader.

Transpositions are another problem Most parents are familiar with they are wished a Happy Brithday or a Merry Christmas. This seems to be a by-product of the method, even though it was not so thoroughly pursued in Canada.

It seems to be a good problem to think about in Young Canada's Book Week. Will Dick and Jane readers, with their interminable "look, look, look," and from opening the covers of real books? Will the youngster think, if that's reading I don't want any of it? Or does he in turn to real books with relief, as an escape from the primers?

Whatever the reasons, library figures indicate a healthful resort to the shelves by young folk. Let us hope the day never comes when books will be popular as a novelty.

He will not resume testing in order to make a big noise, or propaganda or psychological warfare. He will not, I take it, order a test because some group of nuclear scientists and weapons makers have had a bright idea which they would like to try out. If the United States tests in the air, it will be only because it deems the tests essential to maintain the balance of power.

This means that the decisions will have to be made by the President, that they cannot be made by public debate. It is not only because he is the only man with complete access to all the knowable facts. Whether, when, and how to test is not something that can be decided by the Governor of New York or by members of Congress or by editors and columnists, or by the man in the smoking car. None of them can know enough. To test or not to test will no this a sample of secrecy in government, to be revealed only by the efforts of a diligent press?

If the government can hand over 88 million to the Wenner-Gren interests and neglect, or decline, to reveal the payment until three weeks later, the public is entitled to ask if any more of its money has weeks later, the public is entitled to ask if any more of its money has been paid out quietly, with announcement of payment to be made at the government's pleasure.

This, surely, is an action to shake public confidence in the policies of the government and its recently adopted creature, the publicly-owned B.C. Electric.

There is much to be gained, however, and the government of the gained by the policies of the government and its recently adopted creature, the publicly-owned B.C. Electric.

The theme seems to be catching.

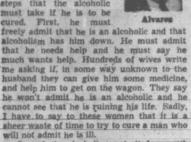

There is much to be gained, however, by a minor change in the project. Each summer, many hundreds of high school students are left idle through the summer because of the lack of available jobs. Many of the young men involved require money to continue their education. The other day the senior class at Georgia State College, Atlanta, voted for class officers. When the ballots had been counted, Russell Miller was president; James Nelson Miller was vice-president; Genn Miller, Jr., was treasurer and Glenn's wife, Clodianne Miller, was secretary. NEHRU WARNS

'Avoid War Or Live Like Rats

UNITED NATIONS (CP)-Prime Minister Nehru has told the United Nations that people will learn to co-operate and avoid nuclear disaster or else ive in holes "like rats."

The Indian premier told the UN General Assembly Friday that "more and more we live under a regime of terror" which no country understands or wants. The threat of nuclear war was becoming more real day by day and might have the virtue of shocking people into the realization that coexistence between East and West "without victory" can be achiev Nehru suggested that the UN consider setting aside a year for co-operation in all fields for study in the political, economic, cultural, social and "whatever" fields. "There must be thousands," he said.

The choice confronting the world is "co-operate or perish-beaceful coexistenc or no ex-stence at all," Nehru declared. Continual stress on conflicts was leading people to believe that there is no co-operation between East and West but this is not true, said Nehru, without giving examples.

Nehru attacked "remnants" of colonialism — particularly in Portuguese Angola — but said the main problem facing the world is disarmament.

The United States and the Soviet Union both professed to believe in nuclear and general disarmament but their negotiations indicated a lack of "faith,

What is the Great Nebula in Andromeda?

This is a good time of year ward. Our view is somewhat to get a faint glimpse of one of the greatest wonders in the heavens for Andromeda is a fall constellation, appearing just east of the great square of Pegasus.

Andromeda is shaped like a broken dart and the top star. Abberatz is one of the stars in the great square. In the ancient pictures of the constellations, this star marked the head of Andromeda. Her chained hand extended down won one side of the dart. Near it, if your eyes are good and the sky very clear, you can see they are called Milky Way systems because they resemble the Milky word of our own Galaxy. We also of our own Galaxy. Vamps Upset In Juvenile Grid Playoff

Everything is pointing to a bitter battle for the neouver Island juvenile football crown at Macdonald Park next Sunday.

Clashing for the title will be Oak Bay Farmers and Nanatmo Redmen, who were involved in two one-point decisions in league clashes this season. Farmers came out on top on both occasions, winning 1-0 and 14-13. Farmers and Redmen took different routes to the suddendeath final as they chalked up victories. Sunday in semi-

INCO DEVELOPS WORLD MARKETS FOR NICKEL

Coinage provides world markets for nickel

Nickel and nickel alloys make excellent coinage because they withstand corrosion and hard wear; can be blanked and coined readily; have a bright metallic lustre that makes them easy to recognize.

According to the latest information, 47 countries of the world use nickel or nickel alloys in 118 coins. On the average, more than 5 million pounds of nickel are used annually in the coinage systems of the world. That's about 10 per cent of the total tonnage of all metals used in coinage each year. Think what this means for Canada. Canada is the world's largest producer of nickel. And Inco, through sales, research and market development operations, maintains a continuing program for the expansion of international markets for Inco nickel.

More Inco nickel than ever before will be exported to expanding world markets . . . helping to build trade balances, stimulate Canada's economic growth and create more jobs for Canadians.

MONEY MINTERS, a 16 mm. 15 minute film in colour produced in cooperation with the I Canadian Mint is available on loan for group showings. NICKEL IN COINAGE, a free bottelling the story of nickel coinage through the ages will be sent on request.

PREPARING MILLET

In preparing millet porridge (using either the hulled seed or the ground meal)—one cup of millet to four cups of liquid is about right. Heat the liquid —which may be water, milk or half-water-half-milk— until it bubbles. Add the millet slowly, stirring constantly to prevent scorching or sticking. You'll save precious hours for family activities the year 'round, with an automatic clothes dryer. Loaded in seconds, the wash is dry in minutes. Compare that with the timewasting, weather-waiting clothesline routine! You'll save money, too.

Many clothes (especially children's) can be worn, washed, dried and worn again, all in the same day. So you don't need to buy as many changes of clothing - and your dryer's gentle action saves costly wear and tear as well.

DECATUR, Ill. (AP)—There was a familiar ring about the "I do's" Friday as Albert and Sella Sefried were married before a Decatur justice of the peace. Sefried, 74, and Mrs. Sefried, 73, had said the words once before—in 1899. A September romance blossomed into wedding bells for the couple, separated for 30 years following a divorce. Neither had remarried.

Elizabeth and Prince Philip to day watched a durbar—gather ing of tribal chiefs—after flying here from the Ghana Capital of Accra during their 11-day visit to the country. The Queen and her husband will spend two days in this chief town of Ghana's northern region and in Kumasi in the central Ashanti region.

The highlight of their visit here was the durbar staged waiting to pick it up. The shortly after they were well-come by large airport crowds and Ghana President Kwaime Nkrumah who had flown here earlier.

Farmers Dubious Of New Aid Plan

Major issue at a B.C. Federation of Agriculture convention here Nov. 30 will be whether new federal legislation is the answer to the farmer's prayer.

The legislation—the Agricul LAND WASTED

tural Rehabilitation and Development Act—was approved this year at Ottawa.

NO ELABORATION
It provides grants to provincial governments for more efficient use of land, for special aid to low-income farmers. Vancouver Island goes to waste and for soil and water conservation.

LAND WASTED

Mr. Walls said Vancouver Island members of the federation are chiefly concerned about grants for drainage. Irrigation and projects to combat land erosion.

"Few people realize how much valuable farm land on cial aid to low-income farmers. Vancouver Island goes to waste due to erosion." he said, erosion.

BC. farmers have invited Agriculture Minister Alvin Hamilton to answer their fears that the new plan may be political patronage in disguise.

Mr. Hamilton will be chief speaker to the 200 delegates from 83 farm groups expected to attend sessions at the Empress Hotel.

and for soil and water conservation.

But so far, Ottawa has not elaborated, it has given no firm commitment on the landowners including the B.C. amount of the grants or the percentage of costs it is prepared to share.

Charles H. Walls, manager of the B.C. federation, explained why farmers are "suspicious" of the legislation:

What is even more frightening than the upsurge of womanism, is that men not only tolerate it, they seem to

Why, right here in Victoria just last week, a man, Sir Philip Livingstone, urged the women of Canada to revive the spirit of the Pankhurst days in combatting the complacency of the individual and the inefficiency of leadership in Canada.

Thus I hasten to announce—I hope before it is too late

Voice of Ordinary Man-a non-profit making, non-dues ring organization devoted to repairing the damage done hands that ruled the cradle rocking the world.

VOOM is a completely democratic organization, it has constitution, no bylaws, and no hope of success unless men among the constituents are braver than I think. Because to join VOOM you must come right out in the en and sign an application form.

As an inducement to charter members, all those who send in their application forms this week are entitled to suggest an aim or object for the association.

For instance, you might want VOOM to fight for legisla-prohibiting the drying of hosiery in the bathroom, or wearing of hardware in the hair at night. But remember, members of VOOM must be men of courage. They must sign their right names to the application form, so that all the world may know VOOM means business

DAIRY PRINCESS CLARA TAYLOR

PRINCESS CLARA IN EAST, SOUTH AMERICA NEXT

'Royal Duties' Delay Nursing Career

20-year-old Saanich girl has to wait a year before starting the career she wants to follow.

Clara Taylor of McIntyre Road has many duties to finish as the nation's Dairy Princess before she can enter nursing school at one of Victoria's hos-

She left Sunday for Toronto to attend the Royal Winter Fair, the world's largest agri-cultural exhibition. While there, she will also be briefed on a trip this winter to South America where she will repre-sent Canada's important dairy industry.

The trip to South America is part of her "duties" as princess along with appearances at many meetings and funcada's agricultural industry.

Since she won the title of "Canadian Dairy Princess" at the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto in September, she has attended more than 14 agricultural meetings. Most of these have been on Vancouver Island — Ladysmith, Nanaimo, Alberni and Courtenay.

But once she arrives in East-ern Canada she will be guest at many farm functions in Ontario and Quebec.

The vivacious five-foot three Central Saanich girl, who always wears a ready smile, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Tayior. The family operates a 140-acre dairy farm in the McHugh Valley, near in the McHugh Valley, near Saanichton. The property once belonged to the sister of Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes.

Her Scottish father owns herds in British Columbia. The 140-head of cattle are all reg-istered animals. Some of the cows rank among the best milk producers in Canada.

Born in Saanich, Clara joined the 4-H Club movement, a national farm organization for young people for young people, when she was 11 years old. It was as a member of the Saanich Holstein Calf Club that she received her training in the care of animals. She soon became a first-class judge of animals and excelled in showmanship.

Clara soon began winning major prizes at the Saanlehton Fair and later at the Pacific National Exhibition in Vancouver where she won the top award for 4-H work two years ago. Then last year she won the Vancouver Island Dairy Prin-yincial title at the PNE, which enabled her to compete in the national competition in Toronto this year. The fair-haired farm girl is not only adept in looking after animals, judging the fine points of cattle and milking cows. When she attended Mt. Newton High School she excelled in science.

She is outstanding in public

Clara also holds her own around the house. She is a good cook and makes most of er own clothes. The Princess has one sister, Margaret, 17, who also is an outstanding 4H Club member, and a brother, Joseph, 23, who helps his father on the farm.

Cards, Cards, Cards . Do 'Em Early This Year By PENNY SAVER

Dear Sis:

The time has come to wade into the big, once-a-year chore of getting our Christmas cards out—on time.

Have you bought your cards yet? Nor have I, but I know Have you be sure to find the 'ards to please.

of a little shop where you'll be sure to find the 'ards to please.

Scenes of British Columbia are featured in one box I saw, selling 24 cards for $2.50, and 6 for 65 cents, all with a mat finish. Scenes include Beacon Hill Park, Vancouver skylline, Parliament Buildings, Fraser River, Stanley Park, Kam-loops Lake and Alberni.

Another line of lovely cards with Kodachrome finish features verse written by Norman Vincent Peale. These are 12

Boxes upon boxes of religious cards are available and among the most outstanding are those cards with Chinese motifs and cards imported from Italy and West Germany. All yours at 12 for $1.

Working on a slim budget this year? Buy value boxes!
One value pack has 45 assorted cards for $1.98 and another has 42 Kodachrome-finished cards in eight different designs, also Personalize your cards. One line of type which would include names of family members is 25 for $1.75. A second line with the address costs only an additional charge of $1. There are eight different styles of type and in most cases it is posible to match the printing on the cards. They can be printed in almost any color you wish—reds, yellows, pinks, gold, silver, black and blues are but a few.

Start early this year and be sure our friends and relaces receive their greetings before the big day.

Let me know if you want the name of the shop I visited lay.

Second Football Playoff Game at 7.30—Stamps Versus Esks

By PHIL LEE, Times TV Editor

IN THE DOCUMENTARY form of TV presentation, in some realms of drama—especially the classical—the CBC produces some of the best-television programs to be found anywhere. But when it comes to staging a plain, old musical revue then the boys and girls of the Crown Corporation somehow usually

Relations With Canada At Lowest in 15 Years

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON (CP) - Relations between the British and Canadian governments appeared Sunday night to be more antagonistic than at any time since the auster-ity period following the Second World War.

British Sunday newspapers, mainly hostile to the Canadian point-of-view, say that Canada is adopting an "openly obstructive" attitude on Britain's negotiations with the European economic community.

PM Embarrassed; Drew pleaded another appointment, and sent his deputy, Ben Rogers. The high commissioners of Australia and New Zealand were also absent. Annoyed at Drew DENIES SNUB

By VICTOR MACKIE Times News Services

OTTAWA — Prime Minister Diefenbaker and his Conservative cabinet colleagues are very embarrassed by the uproar that has developed in Britain over Canadian High Commissioner George Drew's alleged "snub" in staying away from a confidential British briefing on market problems.

This suggestion was "absolutely false," he said.

He did not mention in his statement, the reports of the rift between the two governments, but said:

in staying away from a confidential British briefing on common market problems. Canada's relations with the United Kingdom, already strained over the Diefenbaker government's stand against Britain's entry into the Common Market, have worsened as a result of Mr. Drew's action.

Mr. Diefenbaker was already acutely sensitive to any charge of being "anti-British." He reacted strongly in a speech in the Maritimes last week against such suggestions by Liberal leader L. B. Pearson and other Liberal opposition members.

The comments arise out of an incident Friday when Canada's high commissioner, George Drew, pointedly removed the common Market in the C monwealth high commission-ers by Duncan Sandys, Britain's Commonwealth relations secretary, and the lord privy seal, Edward Heath.

Drew later issued a state-ment denying he intended a diplomatic snub by staying away from the meeting.

Along about now the city of London should be getting ready for the annual Lord Mayor's Parade which accompanies the installation of the new Lord Mayor. At the ceremonies two years ago, newly installed Sir Edmund Stockdale noticed among the happy throng, a little girl in floods of tears. His Worship stopped in mid-procession and went over to discover the cause of this untimely weeping. Upon hearing the child had lost her "mum," Sir Edmund gallantly offered to help find her.
